Description:

An FBI Thriller from New York Times bestselling author Catherine Coulter...Natalie Black, the U.S. ambassador to the United Kingdom, has returned to Washington with her job—and her life—in jeopardy. Everyone chalks up Black's claims of attempts on her life as a ploy for sympathy after the death of her fiancé...everyone but FBI Special Agent Davis Sullivan. Meanwhile, a cunning psychopath has escaped an Atlanta mental hospital and is out for revenge against the FBI, primarily Lacey Sherlock, whom his dying mother begged him to kill after Sherlock and Dillon Savich brought down her cult. The clock is ticking as the danger intensifies for both Black and Sherlock...

Events that took place a year ago (Knock Out - 2009), play a part in this new release, although it should be easy enough for those who haven't read that book to follow. Blessed Backman, a man who can hypnotize most people just by catching their eyes, has escaped confinement and blames married FBI Special Agents Savich and Sherlock for the death of his family and wants vengeance. But these books always contain two cases and the second one involves the couple du jour, sportswriter Perry Black and Special Agent Davis Sullivan when Perry's mother, the U S Ambassador to the United Kingdom, is the target in a number of assassination attempts and now Perry is being threatened. This time the story and action all take place on the home front and Savich and Sherlock are involved in both cases. Blessed just doesn't give up so there's plenty of action and drama on that end as well as break-ins and shoot-outs on the other. As always there is plenty of humor, mostly in the form of conversations, which makes the characters fun to read about. But long ago I found it somewhat annoying that so many of her characters across both this series as well as her historicals have the same sense of humor and love of food, almost like they're talking with the same voice. I've learned to accept that this isn't going to change and just go with the flow. The author's love of football is evident in this story, although thankfully we don't get buried in it. But we do see how and why the media feel it's so important to dig up information on celebrities that we really have no business knowing. And we get politics in this one in the form of the Ambassador, the Secretary of State, the President and a Senator. On the whole I enjoyed both the story and the characters and found it to be a fairly fast-clipped read.
